NO EVIDENCE? AU CONTRAIRE! By Barbara Sieber

The mainstream media is fighting against it, but the evidence for impeachment is mounting against Joe Biden. James Comer, Kentucky Congressman, is setting out to prove that Joe Biden made a fortune selling the Biden name as a “Family Brand.” Biden is accused of “abusing his public office for his family’s financial gain.”⁽¹⁾ Family members and business associates⁽²⁾ are being called to testify. Hunter Biden, who was ordered to testify by a congressional subpoena, has tried to dance around it by making a public testimony, taking no questions. He has thereby brazenly broken the law. Republican Steve Bannon, who also refused to face a congressional inquiry is facing a four month jail term plus a $6500 fine for the same offense.⁽³⁾ Will justice prove to be two tiered? Taking bets, anybody?

Here is the evidence thus far:

1. Incriminating WhatsApp messages
2. IRS whistleblower testimony
3. “The Big Guy” (identified as Joe Biden by Tony Bobolinski and others) received 10% from CCP-linked CEFC China Energy company deal
4. Hunter’s texts say he only kept 15% of his paychecks; another text complained that Joe took half his checks
5. FBI undercover asset reports bribery scheme; confirms “Big Guy” as Joe
6. Hunter’s business partners also confirm “Big Guy” as Joe
7. After VP Joe left office, Hunter’s salary from Burisma (Ukraine energy company where Hunter sat on its board, with no prior experience) got cut in half
8. Eyewitness statements
9. More than 150 “suspicious activity” reports from U.S. banks
10. Joe and Hunter shared a bank account
11. Joe had two (or more) fake email aliases
12. Joe’s written letter to Hunter’s business partners
13. Joe dining with Hunter’s business partners, then lying about it
14. Joe demanding the Ukrainian prosecutor’s firing—without Obama administration knowing (He was investigating Burisma corruption. Joe successfully got the prosecutor fired and bragged about it on video tape)
15. Joe helped Hunter’s Chinese business partners’ kids get into U.S. colleges
16. Flight records show Hunter flew 411 times on government jets while Joe was VP
17. Joe received kickback from UPenn after school received $54 million in Chinese donations
18. Joe refuses to release records of his s-corps tax entity or bank statements during time of bribery scheme⁽⁴⁾
19. Twenty shell companies were created (to hide their money transfers)⁽⁵⁾

AGENDA 2030 By Ken Wolf

You have probably heard of the 2030 Agenda, which is another example of sugar-coated control schemes being pushed by the global elites. There is one from the United Nations, created in 2015, and one from the World Economic Forum (WEF) created in 2019. Both contain similar goals to improve sustainable life on the planet and include things like a clean environment, access to good education, safe communities, equality, and the elimination of poverty and hunger.⁽¹⁾

The WEF’s agenda lists 30 goals to create their “Great Reset”.⁽²⁾ This article considers its goals #5 & #19.

Goal #5: “We Build A Fair And Democratic Gig Economy”.⁽²⁾ What is a gig economy? Glad you asked. (The term comes from the entertainment world where performers booked gigs.) It is a labor market that no longer relies on full-time workers but rather on temporary and part-time laborers—mostly independent contractors and freelance workers.⁽³⁾ This most likely will happen because of the rapid rise in the use of robotics and AI which would naturally decrease the need for full-time workers or even workers at all.

Goal #19: “Stakeholder Capitalism.” This goal redefines business models. The “Stakeholders” include corporations, governments, and civil society* all lumped together in what is referred to as “multi-stakeholder partnerships.” This goal changes world governance and puts more power into the hands of big corporations making them “custodians of society.”⁽⁴⁾ Do we want corporations to be our custodians? How will representation be weighted?

ASHES, ASHES, WE ALL FALL DOWN

What Can Be Done To Stop This Trend? By Justyn Wolf

In the last couple years there have been well over one million unexplained excess deaths in major countries of the world—with the vast majority of deaths being non-covid.⁽¹⁾ Excess deaths are those exceeding expectations based on statistical trends for location and time periods. This global situation is not being discussed by the mainstream media, nor are governments of the world [nor other investigative bodies] looking into causation. Why is this not a concern? We need to find answers/solutions/remedies to stop this trend. What can we each do?

- Take care of our health. Educate ourselves regarding healthy living and eating, supplements that support and build immunity, and ways to detoxify our bodies. Exercise.
- Learn about the issue of excess deaths, consider doing research by using alternative media platforms since censorship is so high. Talk about it with friends and in groups with like-minded people. Brain-storm actions that can be taken individually and as a group.
- Contact news channels and ask for the situation to be addressed.
- Contact local and national government agencies to request an investigation into the problem.
- Vote for responsible people who will address and investigate this and other vital issues.
- Pray and know that God has solutions and guidance. Remain hopeful. Do all to stand...and not fall down.

There are many types of detoxification protocols. Some are general cleanses. Others are specific: blood detox, liver detox, lymph cleanse, parasite detox, spike protein detox, heavy metal detox, etc.

Below are some links to get you started looking into various cleanses and detoxification options.

Also included is a link that shows that the standard American medical community does not all agree on the effectiveness of detoxification. So search your heart, pray, talk to your medical advisor, and do your own research.

WHAT'S FOR DINNER TONIGHT?

By Laurie Ortiz

Wife: Hun, your birthday's coming up soon, is there something special you'd like me to make for you?

Husband: Wow Babe, YES! I'd love some crickets on the barbie!

Wife: Sure! Nothing's too good for you, Hun!

Does the thought make you cringe? If so, why? Bugs have been a common food and even considered a delicacy throughout history. Cultures across the globe routinely partake without a second thought. John the Baptist dined on locusts, so why do Americans find it so repulsive? Is our taste too refined, or might it be the idea of it being pushed on us by global climate activists who believe it's better for the environment than steak (!?)—so they're trying to sneak it into our food without telling us!

In its 2023 Global Risks Report, the World Economic Forum called for the “transition to net-zero, nature-positive food” to fight “food insecurity.” Since bugs are a high protein, supposedly “zero-emissions” food, they fit nicely into the WEF’s Great Reset.⁽¹⁾ But this concept isn’t new. In 2013 the UN Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO) reported that insects may be our only hope for future food security.⁽²⁾

Here are a few items you may want to know about: Cochineal extract (carmine), a red food dye, may be listed as “natural red 4.” It’s used in foods and cosmetics (lipstick). Extracted from the cochineal insect, it can be a severe allergen, so the FDA requires it to be listed.⁽³⁾ Shellac, a resin secreted by the female lac bug, is sometimes used on apples and chocolate for a glossy shine, and yes, it’s used on wood!⁽⁴⁾ Cricket powder is identified as “acheta” or “acheta 8” so read your labels! On the bright side, eating acheta can help reduce obesity!⁽⁵⁾

The majority of Americans can't imagine eating bugs, but the dichotomy here is that there's no problem consuming all the chemicals in our food! Did You Know 30+ American foods are banned for import in Europe, Asia, and South America due to health risks associated with additives? Many are American staples: beef, pork, turkey, farmed fish, chicken, apples, bread, corn, Gatorade, Kraft Mac & Cheese, rice, and sugar.⁽⁶⁾

What's for dinner tonight? You choose....

THE PALESTIAN REFUGEE ISSUE By Candy Giles

As anti-Semitic hatred becomes more visible worldwide, the slogan "Free Palestine" is used by demonstrators in the United States. It makes no sense because there has never been a nation of Palestine that was "taken." The protesters accuse Israel of stealing "Palestine." (See the article in November & December's DYK.) There have always been Jews there, and when more began moving to the land (not nation) called Palestine after 1878, they purchased large portions of land (quite barren) from absentee Arab landlords.⁽¹⁾ Before the nation of Israel was REBORN in 1948, everyone who lived in the land of Palestine had to have a passport that named them as Palestinian. This included Jews, Christians, Europeans, as well as Arabs.⁽²⁾ The term Palestinian mainly referred to Jews at that time. The Jerusalem Post was then the Palestine Post. Arab residents were generally just called Arabs. Once Israel was reborn the term Palestinian was dropped until 1964 when Egypt helped organize the Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO) to create an "aggrieved" group.⁽¹⁾

In 1946, at the end of the British Mandate over Palestine, the U.N. (Resolution 181) recommended an Arab state and an Israeli state be formed. Israel agreed. Surrounding Arab nations refused and instead attacked the newly formed nation. The leaders of those attacking nations told the Arabs living in Israel to leave, promising them that "they would return and move into the Jews' houses after the anticipated successful annihilation of the Jews."⁽³⁾

The Jews "asked Arabs to remain at their homes, (even calling out on loudspeakers), but most of the Arabs listened to the Arab leaders and left."⁽⁴⁾ Israel miraculously survived the Arab attack, and few Arabs who fled ever returned.

"According to official records of the League of Nations and Arab census figures, 539,000 Arabs left Israel...At the same time 850,000 Jews were ejected from Arab countries...and were immediately accepted by the new state of Israel. The Arab refugees who migrated to various Arab nations...were regarded as unwelcome migrants...Squalid refugee camps were set up as showpieces to induce the West's sympathy and kept that way...These camps became a training ground for terrorist youth to be targeted at Israel. The host countries...refused to absorb the Arab refugees as equal citizens."⁽³⁾ On the other hand, the 160,000 Arabs who stayed in Israel in 1948 have grown to around 2 million.⁽⁵⁾ They are full citizens who participate in government and all forms of Israeli life while maintaining their own culture. They have been able to prosper under Israeli democracy.⁽¹⁾

As Christians, we need to be able to counter the lie that the Palestinian refugee problem was created by Israel. The Palestinian refugee problem was created by the Arabs themselves.

There is a United Nations policy that if a refugee is accepted into another country, he loses his refugee status and his children are not refugees. However the U.N. Relief and Works Agency (UNRWA) set up for Arab (now exclusively called Palestinian) refugees only, did not follow these guidelines leaving generations of "refugees" in camps.⁽⁶⁾ The Arabs who left Israel in 1947-1948, were never welcomed into other Arab nations, so unlike any other refugee situation in the world, the children of Arab refugees and now grandchildren are called refugees. The number of people with "refugee status" has grown to nearly 7 million!⁽⁷⁾

Read these quotes for more perspective:

Ralph Galloway, former UNRWA head, said "The Arab states do not want to solve the refugee problem. They want to keep it as an open sore... a weapon against Israel. They don't give a damn whether refugees live or die."⁽⁸⁾

"Arab governments regarded the destruction of ...Israel...more pressing than the welfare of Palestinian refugees. Palestinian bitterness and anger had to be kept alive...by ... sub-normal conditions."⁽⁹⁾

"The decision to sacrifice them was enunciated...and no action by Arab elites has shown evidence of change of heart. (The New Republic 1997)⁽¹⁰⁾

AGENDA 2030 (cont' from pg. 1)

The Great Reset outlined by the WEF radically restructures society. They will use their goals (outlined in their Agenda 2030), AI, and robots to bring about this change. Klaus Schwab, chairman of the WEF, has said, "In 2030 you will own nothing and you will be happy." Yuval Noah Harari, one of Schwab's advisors, refers to some of the Earth's population as "Useless Eaters."

We still have a choice in what our future looks like. Let your opinion be heard. Speak up. Vote. Write letters. Sign petitions, and support those that align with YOUR convictions.

* Civil society, according to the World Bank, "refers to a wide array of organizations: community groups, non-governmental organizations [NGOs], labor unions, indigenous groups, charitable organizations, faith-based organizations, professional associations, and foundations." ⁽⁵⁾
